PHILLIPS ACADEMY, ANDOVER, MASSACHUSETTS

1943 Pot Pourri

Dedication

To John Carlson for the true spirit of sportsmanship and cooperation which he has shown during his thirty-one years of loyal and devoted service to Phillips Academy, we respectfully dedicate this 1943 POT POURRI. We shall miss him, but we shall never forget him nor fail to profit by the fine example which he has set for us.

Presenting . . .

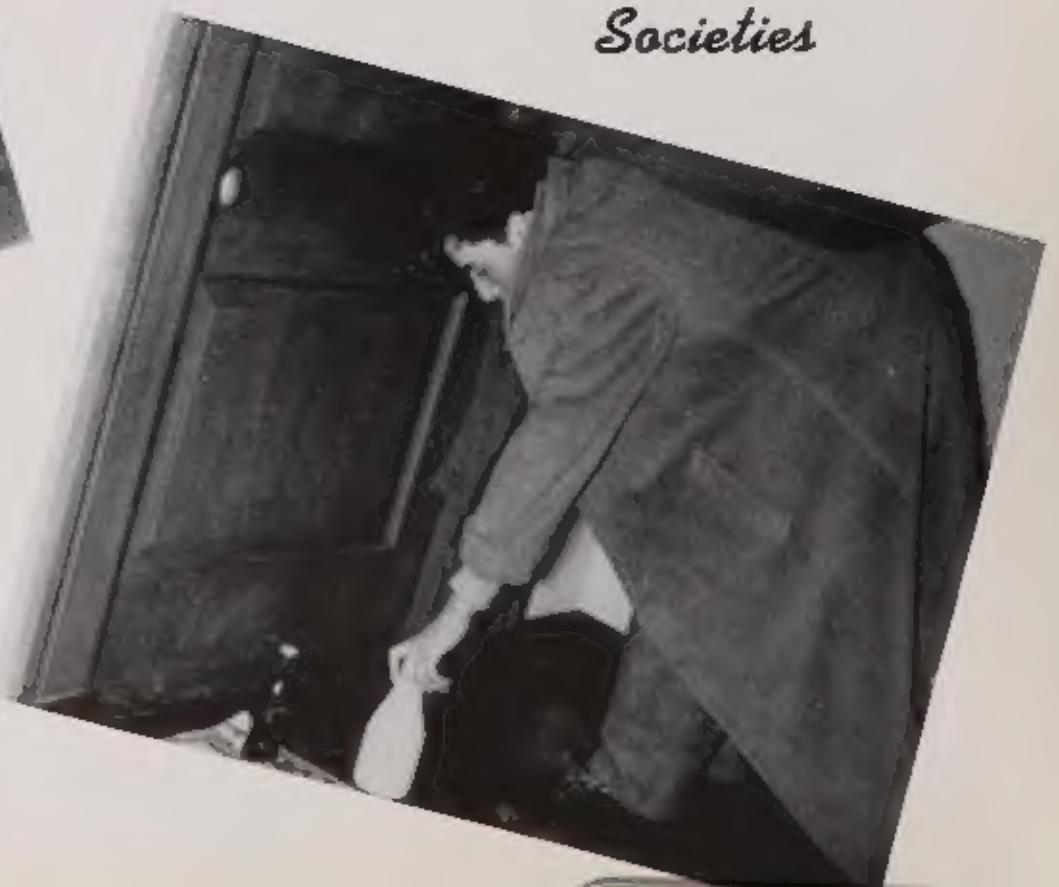

THE STORY OF
THE SCHOOL YEAR
OF 1942-1943

The 1943 POT POURRI has had as its goal a book which would be a worthy reminder of your years on the Hill. Realizing that in many cases Phillips Academy will be the only Alma Mater of this year's graduates, we have tried to put out a book of which this Senior Class could be proud. Believing candid photographs of the members of the Senior Class to be the most pleasant reminders of the days spent at Andover, we have this year for the first time devoted the entire special feature to these, and hope that this innovation has provided extra enjoyment for the reader.

This year we have not copied the books of the last three years but have tried rather to incorporate all of the improvements made in those books, and adding new ideas of our own, to give the school a modern yearbook, which will be a permanent source of enjoyment.

Junior Year

THE European spark of war that had been kindling for many years broke into full flame as the Junior Class took over Williams Hall and Rockwell House in the Fall of 1939.

The faculty reassembled in spite of the war with the exception of Bernie Boyle, who was caught in Paris at the outbreak of hostilities. Arriving at school during the second week of October, he had many weird tales to tell of air-raid shelters and practice blackouts, things which to us here on the Hill seemed, at the time, too remote for serious consideration. Not long after school got under way, Mr. James Gould was appointed the new treasurer of the school, and the campus cop, Officer White, engaged in a minor fracas with a gun-toting pedestrian. The Religion class was made more interesting by Mr. Baldwin's new book, "The Drama of Our Religion."

It was soon evident that at both Williams Hall and Rockwell House there were athletes whose names would become well-known on the Hill in future years. Larry Toms, now in the American Field Service, Lou Hudner, Charlie Arnold, Seth Brockway, Walter Cahners, Phil Drake, Tom Haymond, Dick O'Leary, Frank Strout, and Cal Burrows were some of those who watched with envy Brooks Smith, Bill Hart, Bill Coles, Emmy Harris, "Butts" MacComber, and Johnny Brennan, little realizing that they would be capably filling their shoes in a very short while. Even with this wealth of athletic talent, however, our contests with Exeter did not come out too well, with Andover winning only baseball, tennis, and swimming.

Entertainments were of a particularly high brand our first year on the Hill. Probably the highlight of the season was the Dramatic Club presentation of "The

BERNE GIVES MATTHEWS A HOT-FOOT

The class is more mature now

Bishop Misbehaves." The visiting performers and lecturers comprised an imposing list that boasted such famous names as George Fort Milton, Norman Thomas, and Cornelia Otis Skinner. Two highly successful large dances were held with Tommy Reynolds playing at the Winter Prom, and Mitchell Ayres supplying the music in the Spring. This was the only year of our four at Andover when we enjoyed a Winter Prom.

The year closed on a sad note with the death of Allen Rogers Benner, called affectionately "Zeus" by his pupils, who had long been head of the classical department on the hill. His passing brought home to us Juniors the great traditions and heritage that we were heirs to, and we started our summer vacations with a heightened sense of our duties as members of a fine school.

Lower Year

WHEN we came back to Andover for our Lower Middle year, we soon fell into the school routine. Many of us staggered under the mass of furniture we had to move from either Rockwell House or Williams Hall to our new locations, the Cottages or Abbot House. We soon were able to rise by the familiar clanging of the alarm clocks and get to the "Beanery" just as the doors were closing. In contrast to our Junior year, many of us found the courses rather difficult. Finally, because so many of us were "burning the midnight-oil," the health department issued a notice that 10:30 should find the Lowers and Uppers in bed.

The football season rapidly got under way, and the Lower Class made some valuable contributions to the team in Dick O'Leary and Dick Meryman. The team lost but "that Red machine" found the going tough. The elections also created a new high in spirit on the Hill. Willkie and Roosevelt supporters held many "after dark" discussions upon the merits and faults in the opposition. After a week of P.I. tests, cramming, and then final exams, we boarded the train for our Christmas vacation.

The Winter Term unfortunately found sickness on the Hill. Rockwell House was converted into an auxiliary infirmary for the flu sufferers; week ends, movies, morning assemblies, and, worst of all, the Winter Prom, were called off. Nothing eventful occurred in Winter sports with the exception of the hockey victory. Another term was now drawing to a close, and as we left for our Spring vacation, we realized that ahead of us was the pleasantest term of all, and that it would bring to a close our year as Lowers.

We, at Andover, felt the war a little nearer when Mr. Harper Follansbee signed up with the Army, and Mr. Hallowell became an ensign in the Navy. The Lowers, however, were staging a war of their own with the Juniors from Rockwell House. Many were the nights that the students in the Cottages held water fights—especially on those evenings when the bachelor housemasters were elsewhere. Abbot House also will bring back memories to those Lowers who spent a year there in such company as Judgie Benton and John Bernie.

During the Spring, there were many fine entertainments and social activities in George Washington Hall. The Dramatic Club put on a highly successful comedy "Room Service", the Glee Club presented its postponed concerts with the neighboring girls' schools, and the Student Council held its last Tea Dance. A thoroughly enjoyable Spring Term was brought to a close with the Prom.

Upper Year

OUR newly acquired upperclassmen privileges of smoking, the use of the Commons, and fraternities were first in our minds as we began the second half of our life at Andover. A new Activities Period and also a daily Chapel both seemed to fit into the daily program without interfering with our much prized freedom.

All eyes were turned toward the gridiron as "Puppy" Keuffel and "Steve" Sorota's team continued to roll over all opposition to end the season with a 14-13 victory over Exeter. Pre-season practice, a new institution at Andover, seemed to have produced results. Jim Ryley's soccer men scored over the Red and Gray, ending a perfect term for the Blue on both athletic fields.

Then, as the vacation approached, the surprise attack on Pearl Harbor seemed to push everything else into the background, and the student body was a serious group as it dispersed for the holidays.

A snowless Winter greeted us in January. As the term wore on, the basketball team came through with a spectacular victory over a highly favored Exeter quintet on our own floor, while the swimming team was ending its season successfully against Exeter, in New Hampshire. The track team also sent the Red men back with a defeat.

The Prom was again cancelled as an epidemic of measles broke out, and to subdue any form of rebellion on our part, the faculty added two extra days to the Spring vacation. When the vacation finally arrived, the baseball team left for pre-season work in Orlando, Fla., while the rest of us departed merrily for our Christmas holidays.

The Spring Term commenced in an unorthodox manner with snow storms, but it did not stop the teams from holding warm-up practices.

Tea dances and "Pinafore," presented by the Andover and Abbot Glee Clubs, helped to pass away one of the best terms spent thus far at Andover. The extremely close loss to Exeter in track was reversed on the baseball diamond as we won a stirring fourteen inning game from the boys from New Hampshire.

As the year ended, a great number of us remained on the Hill to go to the Prom and bid farewell to our friends in the Senior Class, many of whom were bound for the military service. We could scarcely believe that next year we would be taking the Seniors' places, for it seemed like yesterday that we had first met in Williams Hall and Rockwell House, lowly preps at the mercy of just such Seniors as we were soon to be.

VORCE AND PREPS

We waited 4 years for this

THE class of 1943 returned to Andover for one of the most difficult and most uncertain years any Senior class has ever gone through. We were returning in a time of war, unsure whether or not most of us would see the year to its end. During the year several fellows in the class did leave to fight for Uncle Sam, and not to be outdone, quite a few of the instructors left for the services also, placing a heavier burden on the faculty and giving the boys more responsibility. In several instances students took over the full responsibilities of housemasters for faculty members in the service.

One of the highlights of the year was the superiority of most of Andover's teams over those of other years. The football team returned a week before school opened to prepare for its first game scheduled for only a week and a half after classes began. It was well worth the trouble, for except for one game when Yale took us into camp we were undefeated. In two consecutive games, the Royal Blue rolled up an even 100 points against its opposition's none. Then on a below-freezing day in a sloppy, unexciting game, Exeter went down in defeat to start a series of disappointments for the Redmen. The soccer team played two games against Exeter, losing one and ending the other in a tie on the bitter morning of the football game.

During the term we heard an extremely informative talk by Professor Arthur Davis on chemistry in the world today, which was the highlight in entertainment in the Fall.

The Winter Term opened to see several more fellows gone off to war. The various teams started right in following their respective schedules which were little affected by the war. The hockey team had a good season and in a three game series beat Exeter twice to show its marked superiority. The swimming team after a fair season also beat Exeter in an exceptionally thrilling meet. The stories of the track and wrestling teams were not so pleasing as they both lost to the Red and Gray after mediocre seasons, and the fencing team, after a meagre season, did not even stop the Exonians. The basketball team helped make up for these defeats, however, by beating Exeter twice, ending a year which saw only one team overpower them.

There was no Winter Prom this year for the third consecutive year because, "You must remember this is war, gentlemen." There were, nevertheless, some Tea Dances given by the Student Council, which proved to be quite satisfactory.

Perhaps the most discouraging note of the whole term was the news that Cy Carlson, wrestling coach and trainer for the numerous teams for over two decades, had left school to spend his last days by the sea.

During this term Mr. Stuart Chase, the nationally known lecturer on economics, gave a brilliant speech on the conditions of the post-war world.

The second day of our return to P A for the last term was spent in taking the V-12 and A-12 examinations sponsored by the government and given all over the country. A week later we spent another miserable day attempting to do well on the College Board exams, after which it was a pleasure to be able to relax and spend the weekend doing the following week's American History. During the vacation a platoon of Army non-coms invaded the school for technical training in the town. They were quartered in Graves Hall and partook of the delicious food in the Beanery and could often be seen marching about the campus, giving us a very vivid idea of what graduation will bring most of us. A large number of students and faculty alike who were able to do so did their part in the war effort by donating blood to the Red Cross.

As this goes to press the combined Glee Clubs of Abbot and Phillips Academies are putting the finishing touches on the "Mikado" which promises to be equally as successful as last year's triumph, "H.M.S. Pinafore." We have already had the pleasure of being addressed by the distinguished Mme. Mai-Mai Sze, artist and lecturer, and Norman Thomas, author and speaker, and other notables are scheduled to appear in George Washington Hall.

The disagreeable weather of the first week is now giving way to the Spring weather for which Andover is famous. The various teams are shaping up well, although except for baseball they have all been handicapped by lack of transportation and other factors due to the war. Golf is now completely out for the duration. Track, lacrosse, and tennis all have difficult seasons ahead of them but we will still give them odds against Exeter, while the baseball team with its almost normal schedule is due for a highly successful year and a win over the Pink and Ashen.

During the Spring Term, the secret societies on the Hill received a blow which had been long expected, but came nevertheless, as a shock. The Trustees declared at their Spring meeting that as it seemed to them that exclusive societies were not beneficial to the school, they would not be continued after this year.

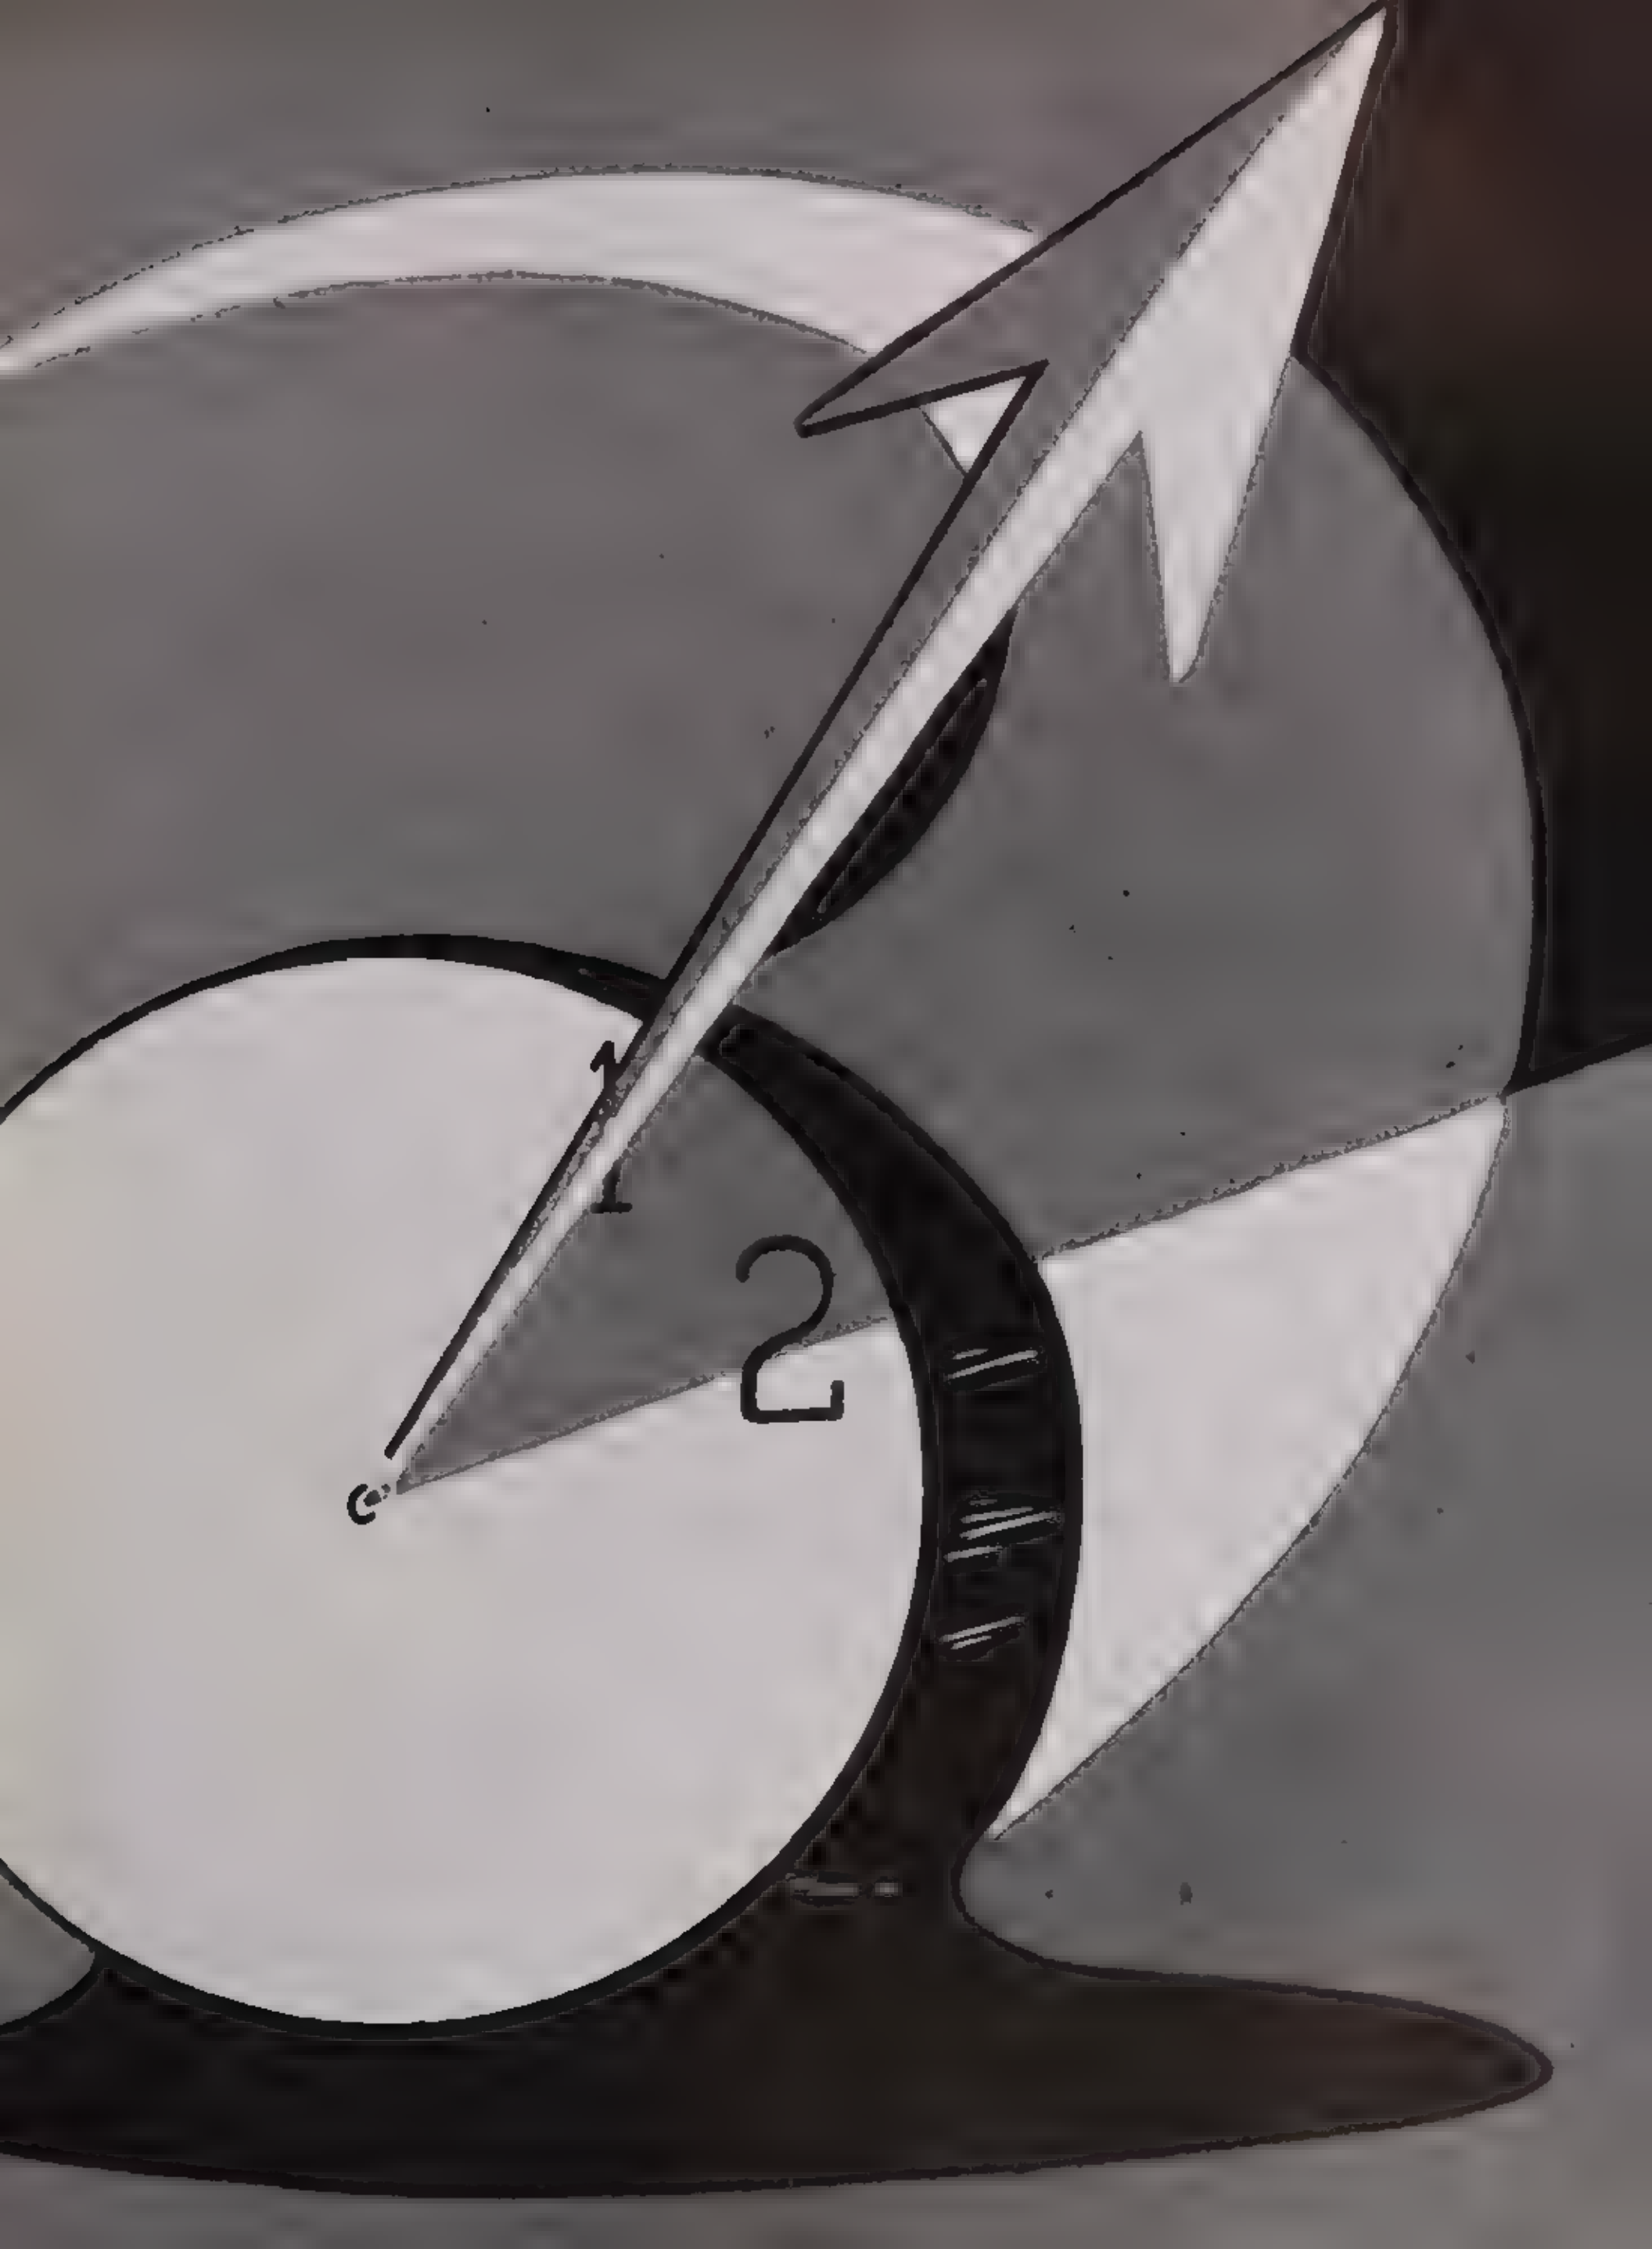

Now with pleasant weather here to stay, we are beginning to make the best of our last days on Andover Hill. In spite of the troubles we have gone through, we have had many good times together, and, especially with the world as it is at present, we shall treasure the memories of our days at Andover forever.

THE duties of the Student Council this year were many and well administered. Its most important task was proctoring in the Lower Middle Dining Hall, and on two occasions, the Council was forced to use its disciplinary powers in this connection. The committee in charge of the Commons, headed by Charley Arnold, included Burrows, Chipman, Duden, G. C. Stevens, Lancaster, and Weigold.

Another of the Council's duties was to proctor at the Saturday night movies. It also met frequently with Dr. Fuess to discuss school policy and with Mr. Cook, with whom it drew up a list of the better moving pictures for showing at the school. Members of the council were often called upon to lend assistance to the P.A. Police when the latter were overtaxed on days of big athletic contests.

The Council was also responsible for the sale of many hundreds of dollars worth of War Stamps in the Commons after lunch. The committee of Hudner (head), Duden, Haymond, Gilbert, and Burrows was given invaluable aid by several faculty wives.

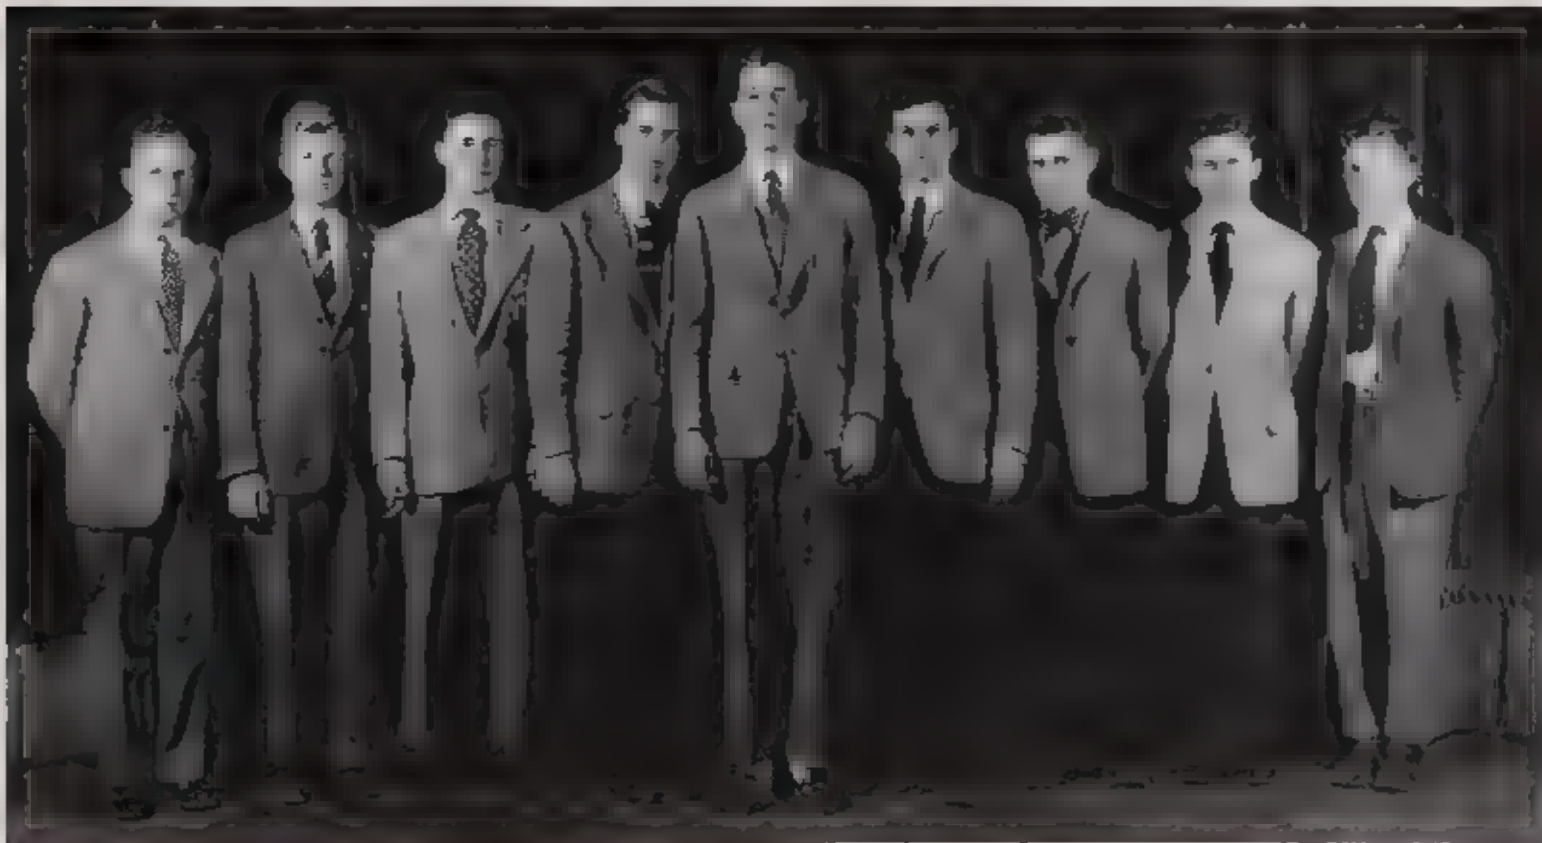

The Social Functions Committee, led by Bill Chipman, who was assisted by Arnold, Hammer, and Farrington, was responsible for about six Tea Dances, all of them most successful. Each of this year's dances more than paid for itself, and the excess money was used towards the Prom, held in the Spring Term.

8-in-1 Octet

THE 8-1 Octet had to go through some rather difficult growing pains this year. It was quite unfortunate that, for this, one of the busiest years for Seniors, no provision was made last year in respect to the forming of the Octet. Each Spring, the Senior members of the organization are supposed to choose returning members of the Upper Middle class to carry on in the following year. There was no such action taken last year due mostly to the increased amount of time demanded by the performance of "Pinafore." Therefore, it was not until the Rogers Hall concert that the much revamped Octet was able to make its first appearance.

Time played the most important part in the Winter Term. The "Mikado" took a great deal of time formerly allotted to rehearsals, and when Art Hall looked especially worried it usually meant that he was having his troubles assembling everyone in one place at one time. All was not black in this term, however, since Bud Thurber joined up with plenty of spirit to add punch to the organization. Also Bob Daley discovered that he had perfect pitch (well within a half tone anyway), and could start his fellow men on somewhere near the right note. The result of the conglomeration of factors was a gratifyingly successful first appearance before the school on the last Saturday night before vacation. That night the school was introduced to "Mandy", "Nellie", and "Cleopatra." The Egyptian celebrity seemed well known to Lee Harris, who sang the second verse with ardent feeling. As this article goes to press, this year's 8-1 has yet to win fame equal to that of last year's aggregation. This has been a very difficult year to undertake any such luxurious venture, but in spite of all, the boys in the 8-1 have enjoyed themselves, and perhaps have conveyed some of their cheerfulness to others.

Glee Club

DESPITE increased activity on the Hill this year, the Glee Club suffered less than most of the activities. It seems that the savage breast must be soothed in war as well as in peace. A gratifying number of boys have supported the organization and have given much of their time. As a result, the schedule was larger this year than it has been in the past. On December the fifth, the Glee Club combined with the orchestra to entertain the girls at Rogers Hall. The concert was followed by a dance which was successful enough to merit a sequel in Andover on January twenty-third. Yet all the efforts of the Club were not for the benefit of outsiders, for an excellent performance was turned in at an unusually beautiful Christmas service.

The Winter Term was very busy with "Mikado" rehearsals getting into full swing. Walnut Hill came up on February twenty-seventh and they gave the only concert of the Winter Term on that date. Much to the credit of the Glee Club, they gave a very good concert at Dana Hall only three days after the return from vacation. The other concerts of the Spring Term were with Bradford on May first and Beaver Country Day on May fifteenth. A considerable amount of adventure was added to the Glee Club trips this year in that transportation presented an interesting problem. Concerts were arranged to fit train and bus schedules, but these exigencies served rather to enhance the excursions than to cause much trouble.

Carrying on what is hoped will be a Gilbert and Sullivan tradition, one of the Glee Club's largest activities this year was the production of the "Mikado." Twenty-nine boys undertook the demands of the somewhat thankless job of Gentlemen of Japan. The male leads were well carried off by Palmer Worthen, Frank Magee, Wagner Thielens, Hal Owen, and Benny Brewster. Dr. Pfatteicher carried on his policy of encouraging the boys to sing good music, and the programs of the organization contained some of the best of choral music. Dr. Pfatteicher's influence was reflected in "Come And Thank Him", "Jesu Joy of Man's Desire", and "Jesu, Priceless Treasure", all by Johann Sebastian Bach; "When His Loud Voice in Thunder Spoke", by Handel; two Gluck choruses from "Alceste", and "Mon Coeur se Recommande à vous", by Lasser.

THIS year Mr. MacDonald, for the first time, was the director of the orchestra, and much credit is due him for the excellent results shown by the organization. Under the new direction, the repertoire was developed to include Haydn's symphony number fifteen (La Reine), parts of the Haydn number seven, and an outdoor overture by Copeland

As is customary, the orchestra accompanied the Glee Club to its concerts, usually playing alone, although at the Beaver Country Day School concert it was privileged to combine with the orchestra of that school

All choirs of the symphony orchestra were represented, with the organization comprising twelve violins, a viola, double bass, two French horns, two flutes, three clarinets, four trumpets, and a tympani.

The woodwinds were ably backed this year by Brewster, who played the flute, sax, clarinet, and oboe. Bill Graham and Jim Moore boosted the horns, while Sam Rogers and R. Hall also worked hard. All in all, the orchestra has had a good season, and deserves much credit

Band

THE school band, the lesser counterpart of the orchestra, was coached again this year by Mr. Harvey Davies of Boston, and was capably led by Sam Rogers.

The band was composed of twenty-five members, and much credit is due all of them, as an excellent showing was made during the halves of the Exeter contests, at the rallies, and at the parade following the victories.

The Phillips Academy band also offered a well-rounded program of music in George Washington Hall before the movies. The following numbers were played: "Soldier's Chorus" from "Faust" by Charles Gounod, a novelty, and some marches. Two selections, one concert and one swing piece, were an unusual feature of the program, played by the Euphonic Brass Quartet, which includes Jim Moore, Bill Graham, Dick Starke, and Al Burgess.

WITH only three of its old members, Rogers, Hammer, and Noble, the Riveters started off to a memorable season, marked by the innovation of a separate quartet, known as the Welders.

Although the band has had more than its share of trouble this year, the season has been unusually successful in regard to the skill of the players and their popularity at Andover. The greatest hindrance encountered this year was the lack of time for rehearsal, because of the intensified war program, and, as in years before, the brasses have suffered the most for lack of practice.

This year's solo talent has been profuse with Berlin's clarinet and sax, Noble's trumpet, Brewster's sax, and Rogers' fine work as bass player, leader, and announcer.

At their appearances in George Washington Hall, the Riveters have never failed to bring down the house, and certainly no other entertainment is enjoyed more by the student body than that produced by this aggregation.

Morrison, Sper, Gelb, Rich
Magee, Pinkham, Gadebusch, L. A. Harris, Levine

IN keeping with its recent policy of producing several short plays instead of concentrating its efforts on one long one, this year the Dramatic Club has been responsible for two one act plays, "Refund" and "Minnie Field," and the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta "The Mikado."

"Refund," a comedy of school life, was presented in the early part of the Fall Term. The directing was ably done by Dr Grew, and the set was designed by and constructed under the supervision of Mr. Woolsey. The leading role of "Blenkinsop" was taken by Elihu Lauterpacht. In the supporting roles were Hal Owen, Frank Magee, Norman Sper, Charles Isitt, and Morey Levine. In the opinion of the school critics, Frank Magee gave the best performance of the evening.

In the latter half of the Fall Term, a new cast began work on "Minnie Field," a local color comedy dealing with rural life. The leading role of "Tip" was played by Leon Harris, with Rex Cherryman and Paul Weamer in supporting roles. In this play the excellent scenery contributed a great deal to the "backwoods" atmosphere.

The Dramatic Club's major production for the year was "The Mikado" or "The Town of Titipu." As with "H.M.S. Pinafore" last year, "The Mikado" was produced by the Fidelio Society of Abbot Academy and the Glee Club of Phillips Academy. Work was begun early in the Fall Term and six months were spent rehearsing under the supervision of Dr. Pfatteicher, Dr. Grew, and Mr. Cochran. "The Mikado" was very successfully presented on the nights of April 16 and April 17 for visitors and the student body. The first act was conducted by Dr. Pfatteicher and the second act by Mr. Howe of Abbot Academy. The title role was originally to be played by Bob Daley, who unfortunately contracted pneumonia. The part was played successfully by Ben Brewster in his absence. From Abbot

Academy, Alva Houston, who took the part of "Josephine" in last year's performance, teamed with Anne Pearson, Betty Colson and Themis Sarris to play the four female leads. The remaining male leads were taken by Hal Owen and Wagner Theilens, both of whom played leading roles in last year's production, Palmer Worthen and Frank Magee.

Phillipian

EDITOR CRAIG GILBERT
Deadlines didn't bother him

PHILLIPS ACADEMY students returned to school last September to find the Phillipian coming out only once a week instead of twice a week as had been customary in preceding years. This step was due to shortages in paper and advertising, caused by the war. The change resulted in a much improved newspaper. All the articles were relevant to important school subjects, and the board was able to concentrate on putting out just one issue within the same span of time they had been accustomed to putting out two.

The editorial board functioned exceedingly well this year. Editor-in-chief Craig Gilbert, in charge of the editorial policy, did much to improve the paper in general, as well as its popularity among the student body. Managing editor William Phelan was greatly responsible for the improved formats. Assignment editor Phil Drake found himself too weighed down by other duties around school this year to continue with his Phillipian work, and consequently Dick Baird took over his job.

The business department under the direction of Business Manager Stuart Northrop assisted by Circulation Manager Dave Herron did an excellent job in getting plenty of advertising in spite of the difficulties brought about by the war.

As a school paper should, the Phillipian endeavored this year to present the views of the student body as accurately as possible. Editor Gilbert accomplished a lot in furthering the understanding between the faculty and the undergraduates, through cooperation rather than opposition. Readers were encouraged to write letters expressing individual opinions. A lot of these were printed in the course of the year.

At the annual banquet held at the end of the Winter Term, Melvin Bergheim, Charles Heming, and John Shepard were elected to the three main positions of the 1943-44 editorial board, while William Woodrow and Julian Abbott were elected to lead the incoming business board. The new editors took over in the Spring.

Pot Pourri

EDITOR LEON HARRIS

With two editors should....

THIS year more than ever before, the POT POURRI faced real production difficulties. Not only was there a shortage of basic materials, but even more important, a shortage of labor at the printers was the cause of a much earlier deadline than ever before, meaning less material about the Spring sports.

After getting off to a rather bad start, due to the unfortunate illness of Paul Matthews, the book was taken over at the start of the Winter Term by Leon Harris. Because it was his belief that the readers enjoyed more photographs and less print, this year's POT POURRI contains less print and many more pictures than formerly.

The 1943 POT POURRI is a really new book. The modern cover, new aerial photo fly-leaf, and original frontispiece are the most apparent changes. Retaining all the improvements of the last three years, we have tried to institute some of our own. In line with the policy of more pictures, we have this year devoted the entire special feature to candid photographs of the Senior class, obtained by the Photographic Board in spite of a serious shortage of photographic equipment.

This year for the first time we have taken full advantage of our excellent Art Department, and we feel that the dividers, done by Diz Bensley are a happy result. Many thanks are due also to Pat Morgan.

Special plaudits should go to Ted Peck, Bob Montgomery, and Charles Heming for consistent good work, as well as to Bob Jordan for his fine divider for the feature section. Again this year, Mr. Harold Johnson of the Andover Press was of incalculable assistance to the editor, not only in preparing the book for the printer, but in drawing it up as well. John McClesney and Samuel Davidson Herron, Jr. did an excellent job at the business end, and it is on the Business Board that the success of any yearbook depends in a large measure. But to Leon Harris should go the major portion of the credit for what we believe is a fine POT POURRI.

Mirror

EDITOR HAROLD OWEN
A tough job, well done

THE 1942-43 Mirror, under the editorship of Harold Owen, lived up to the literary standards of many of its predecessors, but was not as successful as it might have been due to a lack of interest on the part of the undergraduate body. As usual, the deadline had to be advanced each term because of insufficient copy at the specified date. John Shepard, the Business Manager, faced the major problem, the distribution of twice as many Mirrors as there were subscribers.

The editorial policy of this year's Mirror is best stated in the Editor's own words, "...the fundamental purpose of the Mirror this year is to present and encourage literary talent in the school. It may be hard to reconcile a literary training with the more immediate preparation for war. But if viewed with respect to the whole cycle of war and the reconstruction after the war, such intellectual stimulation as we are able to offer may seem to be of considerable importance."

In the Winter edition, the Mirror's editorial, written by Managing Editor Craig Gilbert, stressed the importance of upholding the Liberal Arts Program in both secondary schools and colleges and stated that the responsibility for the success of the administration of such a plan lies squarely on the shoulders of the teachers in these institutions. Gilbert's editorial, incidentally, won third prize in the Means Essay Contest.

The literary quality of several articles and stories that appeared in this year's Mirror were especially meritorious. Perhaps the best short story of the year was written by Lower Middler Fred Sanborn. In the same issue, S. D. Herron's prize-winning Means Essay, "Among the Majority," appeared. Wagner Thielens' "A Study in Twilight" is also worthy of mention here. Other short stories were contributed by William Lippman, Gordon Bensley, Frank Magee, Eugene Pantzer, Richard McKinley, and Melvin Bergheim. Poetry was supplied by Don Wallace, Peter Poor, and Tom Sarnoff.

Society of Inquiry

PRESIDENT PHIL DRAKE

He set a new record

THE Society of Inquiry did wonderful work this year in carrying out its purpose of service in the school. At the beginning of the Fall Term the Society held a tea at the Andover Inn for the new boys. This gave these "preps" a chance to meet

Dr. Fuess and members of the faculty as well as to make acquaintances among the other new boys. Following the tea, talks were given by heads of activities to aid the boys in orienting themselves and in planning their year's program.

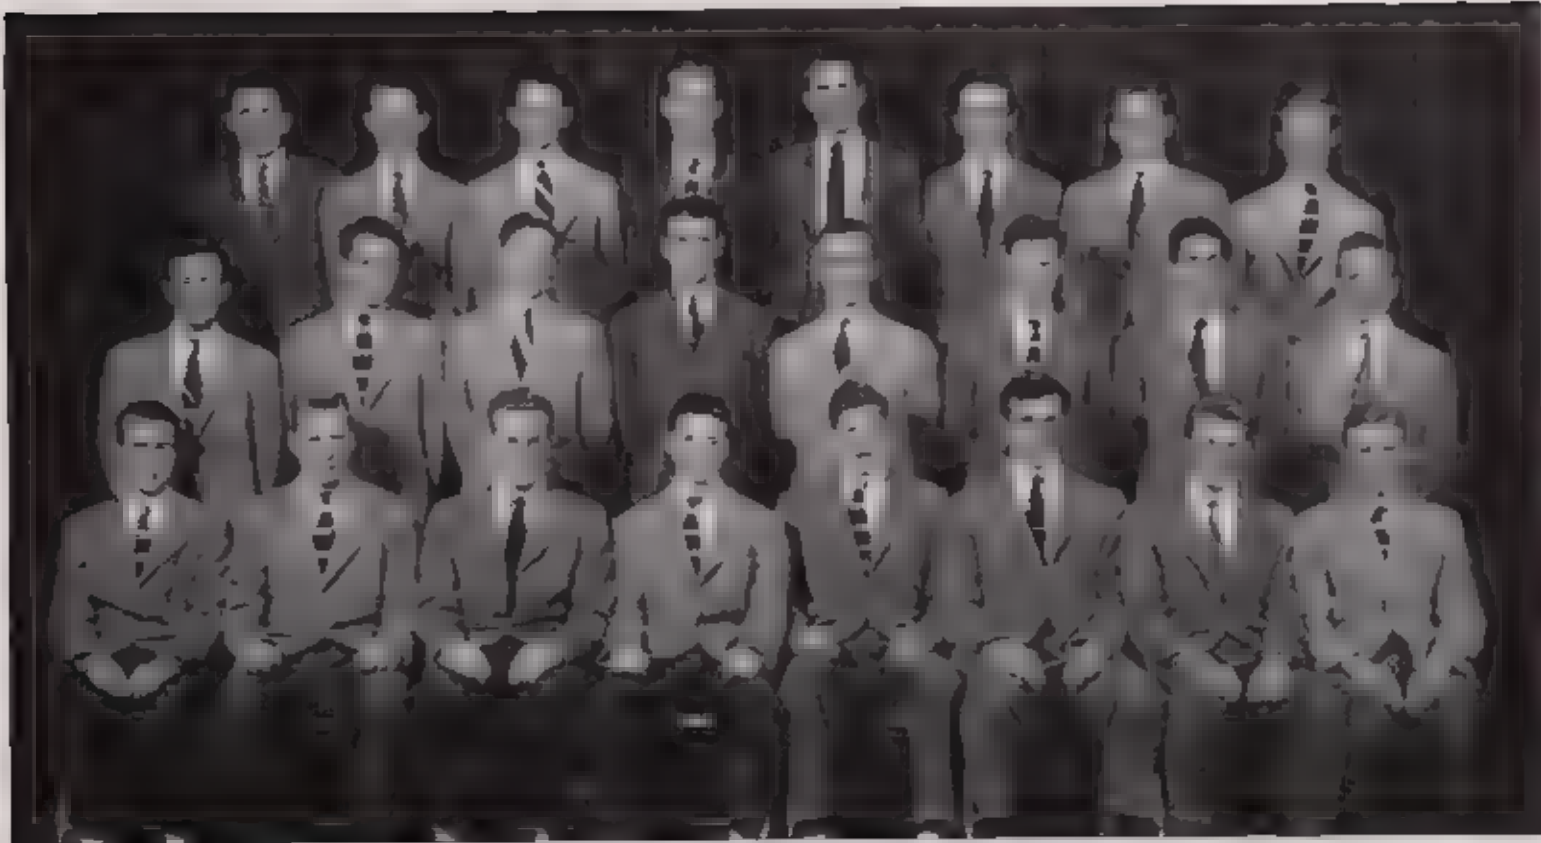

The students got behind the Society's annual P.A. Charities Drive and pledged six hundred dollars more than the record goal of three thousand six hundred dollars. This was the greatest drive in Andover's history and is something of which the Society and the student body may justly be proud, for the money goes to such organizations as the Red Cross, United War Relief, Hampton Institute, Salvation Army, and the Loan Library.

The Society presented a concert by the Hampton Quartet as well as two open forums. The first of these forums was a discussion of "Interfaith Relations," while the second dealt with "Living in Revolution."

CONTINUING the upward trend of the past few years, Circle A again saw new heights in popularity and interest. Membership has been the highest in many years, and the Society's activities have all met with success. The war's effect has been felt in the unfortunate lack of transportation facilities which has forced the organization to abandon the more distant conferences.

Circle A worked with the Society of Inquiry in organizing school charities, and met with outstanding success in its own drives. The Grenfell Mission sale did a thriving business, and the old clothes drive was the best in five years.

Other activities sponsored by Circle A included the work with the Andover Guild, and frequent conferences at the Log Cabin with a variety of speakers. During the Winter Term, a series of group discussions were held in conjunction with the Society of Inquiry, at which the country's religious and political problems were discussed.

Credit for the success with which the Society met this year is due to the untiring activity of its President, Jack Lemmon, and the interest of Mr. Baldwin.

THE one hundred and seventeenth year of the Philomathean Society was marked by a great increase in interest as well as in enrolled membership. Much was done under the progressive leadership

PRESIDENT BILL LANCASTER
He put new life into the organization of President Bill Lancaster and Mr. McCarthy, faculty advisor, toward returning Philo to the dominant position it once occupied in school activities.

Since most of the members were in Philo last year, only one speech by Mr. McCarthy on the fundamentals of debating was necessary to start the year off. This left more time than usual for practice in actual debating and speaking. Almost without exception, current affairs, especially those relative to the war, made up the topics for the debates and discussions of the Society. Members of the faculty aided greatly in these by delivering talks making clear the issues involved.

At the beginning of the year, the officers of Philo started debating organizations in Rockwell House and Williams Hall to train Juniors in the fundamentals of debating.

In the Winter Term, the Philo elimination tournament succeeded the practice debates of the Fall Term, and it aroused a great deal of interest among the members. The subjects chosen for the debates were always of interest, and as a result, the ensuing discussions, in which everyone participated, were very lively.

The Philo banquet was held at the Andover Inn, with Dr. Fuess as guest speaker. Also, impromptu speeches were given by a few of the members. A second banquet was held with equal success in the Spring Term.

Two very enjoyable Sunday suppers were also sponsored by the Society. At the first of these, Mr. James spoke on problems to be faced after the war, and Mr. Mr. van der Stucken addressed the seconds on conditions in Europe today.

The Varsity Debating Team, had a short schedule this year because of transportation and other difficulties. An early debate with the Williams College Freshmen, for example, had to be changed to a discussion when events moved so rapidly that subject agreed upon could no longer be debated. However, the team worked hard on the few debates which were scheduled, and had an enjoyable season. Its members were Tom McGowan, Ross Baker, Don Wallace, Don Sterling, Bob Daley, and Heath Allen.

In the Spring Term, the Robinson Prize debate was won by the team of Ross, Baker, Heath Allen, and Don Sterling. Tom MacGowan was elected the president of Philo for next year.

Studio Art

PAT MORGAN
Everybody likes him

STUDIO ART is unusual at Andover because while it is a course, to those who are interested in art it assumes more the form of an activity. The course is designed to teach boys the theory of art and architecture and also to give them an opportunity to put the theory into actual practice.

Jordan, Coleman, Rogers, Bensley, and Loveday are taking the art major and have all done exceptional work this year. These boys have been designing a modern house complete with floor plan, interior decorating, and outside landscaping. The model and plans are to be exhibited at the student exhibit this Spring

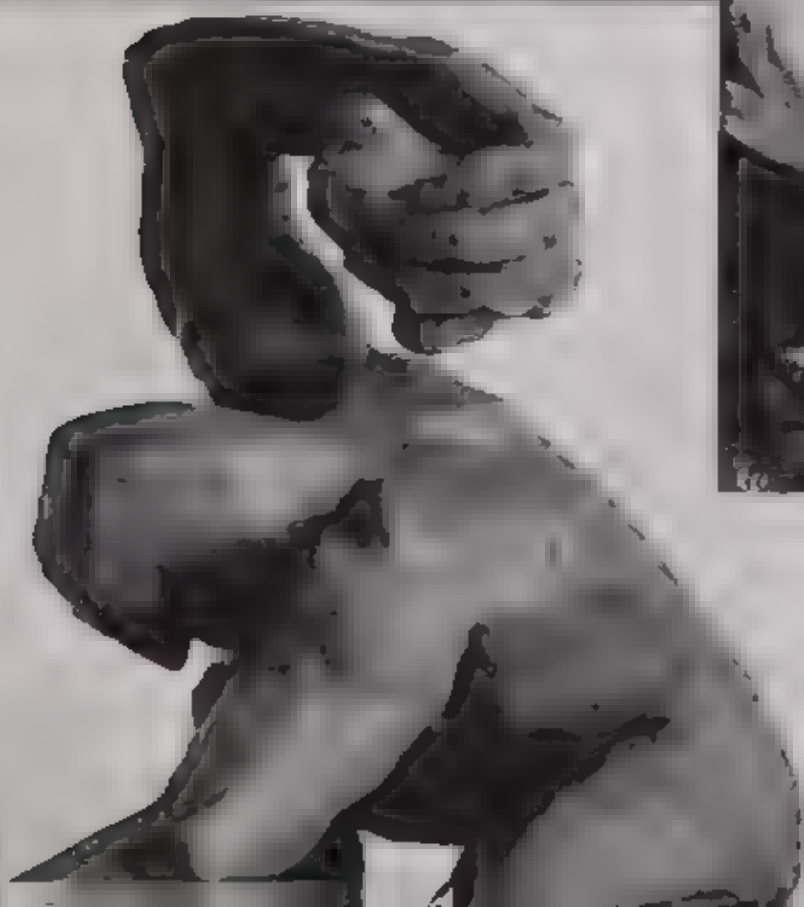

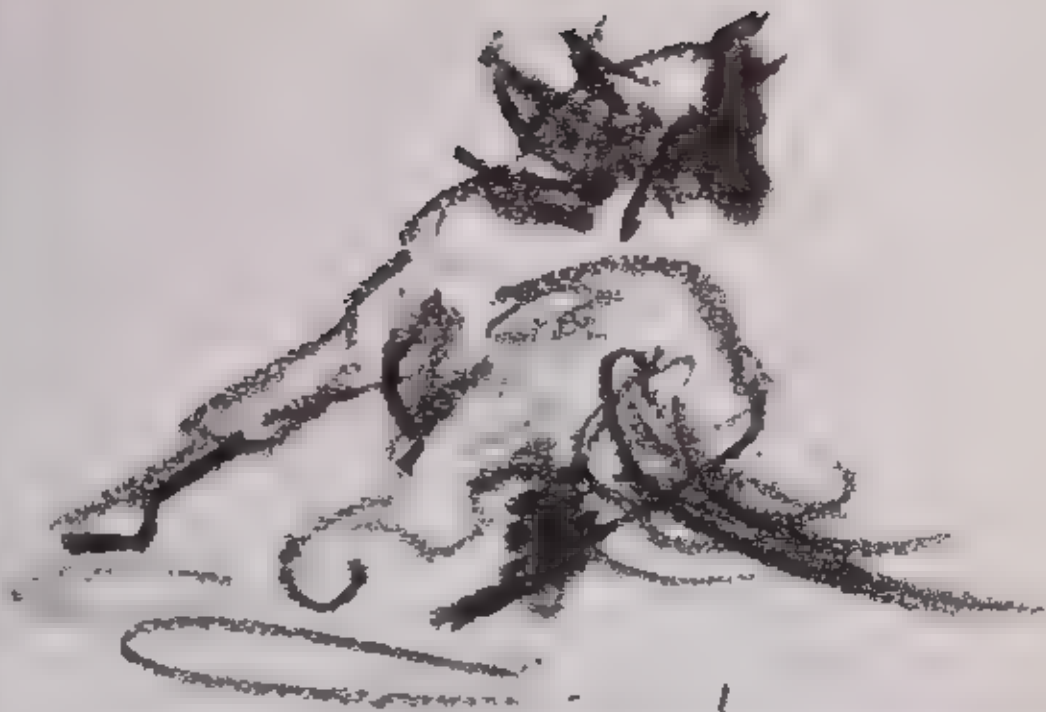

Doug Stewart, Mahony, Coulson, Heron, and Marshall have also done some exceptional work in painting, sculpture, and designing.

Much credit should go to "Pat" Morgan, who has spent a great deal of time and effort in making the course as valuable and interesting as possible.

Because these boys made such an excellent showing, some of their work is pictured on the opposite page.

Printing Club

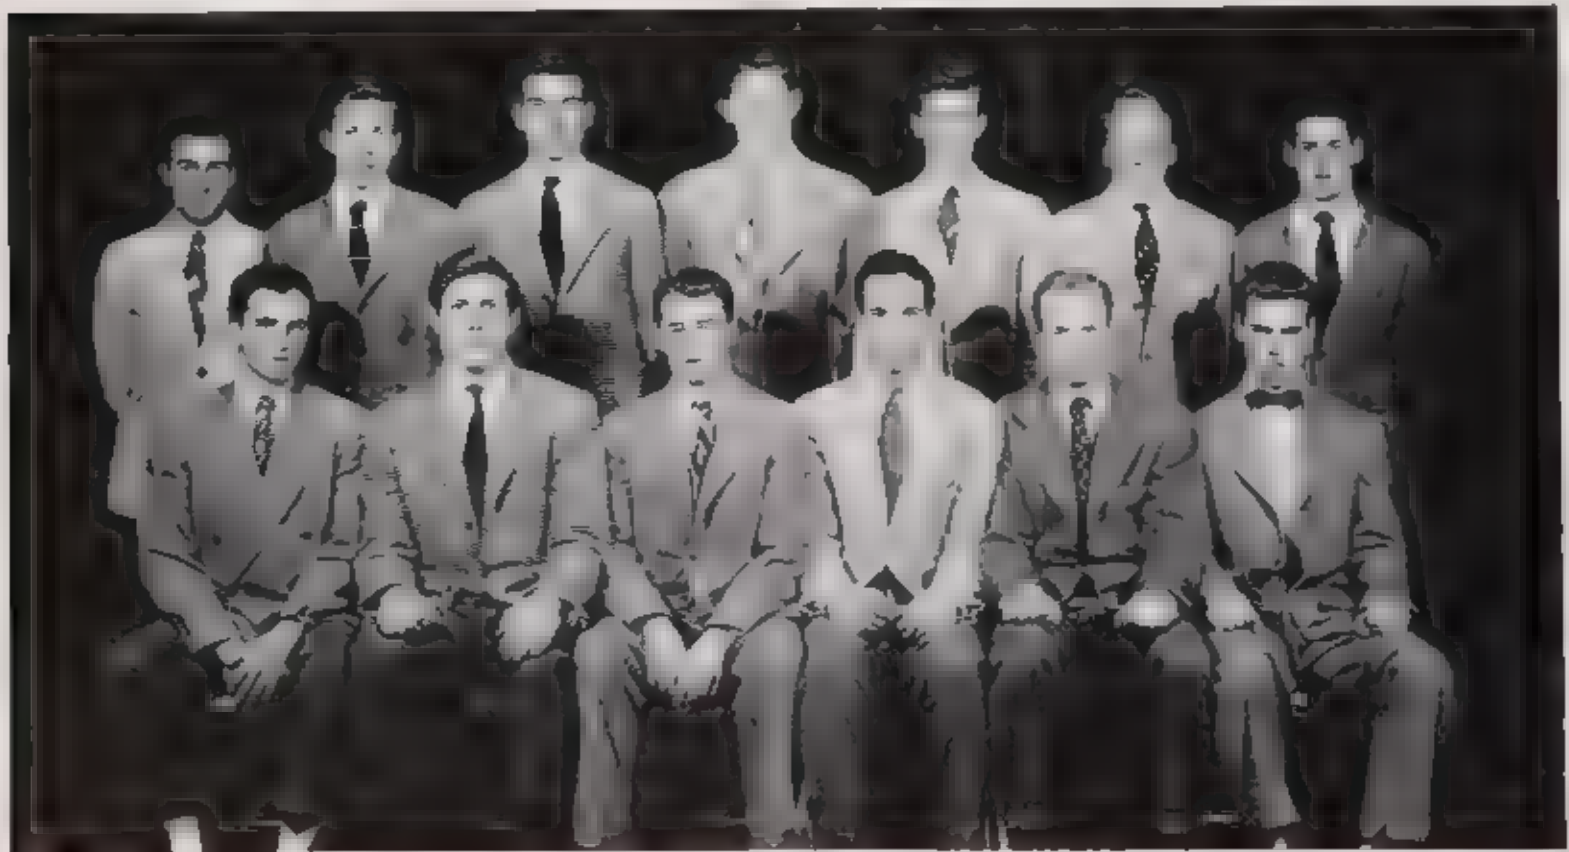

PAUL REVERE PRESS
Vandy's underground press

A GAIN this year the Printing Club functioned under the faculty supervision of Mr. van der Stucken. The club members were Fineran, Hayden, Wilmer, Haskell, and Burbank. Although a small group, these boys showed much enthusiasm in the activity and throughout the year contributed many useful and well done printing jobs, which were often used at the different school social events.

The club headquarters were again the large room in the basement of Paul Revere Hall. The new members picked up the printing art quite quickly, though not without some sad moments when they learned that they had to painstakingly distribute all the type they had set, and soon were quite expert at using the new foot-pedal press.

Some of the jobs completed by the club during the year were programs for the Dramatic and Language Club plays and the Christmas Vespers Service program. On the whole, the club did some good work during the year, but it is hoped that in the future more boys will join the Printing Club and take advantage of the fine equipment offered.

THE Camera Club was again this year under the faculty direction of Mr. Minard. Interest in the activity was higher than it has been for several years. Skip Ordeman was chosen director of the club, and the actual membership numbered nineteen. Photographers who were active in the Camera Club were Traylor, Beck, Daley, Niebank, Vorce, and Lebenthal.

Fortunately, last year the Club purchased enough equipment to carry it through this year. If this had not been the case, the club's activities would have been greatly curtailed. As usual, all developing, printing, and enlarging of photographs was carried on in the dark room in Peabody House basement.

As in former years, the Camera Club was closely affiliated with the photographic boards of the three Andover publications. This cooperation was made easier by the fact that many of the Camera

Club boys were also on the POT POURRI, Phillipian, and Mirror photographic boards. All in all, the work done by the Camera Club was very successful and it is hoped that the enthusiasm shown this year will continue in the future.

A large mountain, built of plaster of paris and wire screening has been built by Dick Kimball. Also a large amount of track has been laid by Choo-choo Morgan, vice-president, Dean Quimby, secretary-treasurer, Ed O'Brien, and Bob Burke. Ned Hayes built the girders for a bridge over the passenger yards and also the club's three passenger cars. Nick Reitzel has wired a large part of the system for electrical operation. In addition, many apprentices from Williams Hall and Rockwell House have shown interest in the club's activities.

At present the club operates a double-tracked main line around a 110-foot trapezoid and across its median.

Credit is due to Mr. W. M. Sides, Mr. Boyce, and Mr. Pat Morgan for their aid.

Rifle Club

AS the Rifle Club completes its third year on the Hill, it has assumed a position of great importance in the lives of many students faced with the prospect of early military service. This past year has been a most successful one for the club. Attendance has been steady, and the ranges in the Cage were open four nights a week. A much greater number of boys availed themselves of this opportunity than have ever done so before.

Although no team matches could be arranged this year because of transportation difficulties and the scarcity of ammunition, there has been spirited competition within the club. The club also had a group of boys from the High School who were given a small arms course and qualified before going into service.

Among the outstanding marksmen were J. D. Dorsey, Boynton, R. H. Hall, Hord, Vandervoort, Saltonstall, Nourse, Whit

French and Latin Players

Eatough, Lauterpacht, Mahony, Matthews, Weiner, Weamer, Crompton

WITH four successful presentations to their credit, the foreign language groups continued the series this year with two more plays, "Andria" by Terence, and Tristan Bernard's "L'Anglais Tel Qu'on le Parle." Given during the Winter Term, both comedies were greeted by enthusiastic audiences.

The Latin Players were under the direction of Dr. Westgate and Mr. Sweet. To open the performance, there was a talk by Mr. Poynter, an introduction by Dr. Westgate, and a prologue by Frank Mahony. Members of the cast were Bill Lippman, Gene Pantzer, Dick Morgan, Tom Haymond, and Don Wallace. "Andria," an Athenian love story with a happy ending, was well handled by its competent cast.

Messrs. Whitney, Grew, Cobb, and Cochran coached Bob Daley, Bill Crompton, John Randolph, Paul Weamer, Peter

Poor, and Seth Brockway in the roles of the French play. "L'Anglais" dealt amusingly with an English family in France. The success of this and the Latin play guarantees similar productions in years to come.

Varsity Football

WITH thirty-one men returning early to school for pre-season practice, the Andover football team began a highly successful season with Dick Duden at the helm. Ten lettermen returned, and three of them, Dick Duden, Dick O'Leary and Phil Kemp, had seen action in last year's Exeter game. Added to these dependables were several preps who particularly strengthened the weak spots in the line. The early practice was fine conditioning for the team, and a great aid for Coach Steve Sorota in lining up the prospects. In this pre-season practice, Cliff Stevens, Rand Johnson, and Fox Ferguson were hurt. Hurt from last year's squad were Dick Mervman, Cy Brockway, and Moose Herron.

The opening game of the season was against an experienced Northeastern team. Andover displayed superior power, but as yet lacked the co-ordination that was to come as the season progressed. Duden correctly made the first of the two touchdowns, and was followed up by O'Leary. Jim Hudner was the yard-gainer that day, and helped Andover to triumph, 13-0. The second game of the season broke Andover's streak of nine straight wins, as one of Yale's strongest teams overpowered the Blue, 20-7. Captain Duden crashed through Eli's formidable line to make our lone tally. Injured were Mase Phelps, Larry Toms, Doug Sturges, and Ray Vorce. Mort Bishop, Bob Harvey, and Berk Bidgood were given their chance at first string.

The Harvard game, which P.A. won, 13-7, was especially significant in that it was a major step ahead in the development of our line. Hal Clayton was shifted to tackle, and the whole line seemed to begin to react to the coaching of Mr. Meany and Mr. Flanagan. O'Leary scored, and Kemp caught a pass for the second touchdown.

The team's next game was against an admittedly weaker Bowdoin team. Charlie Arnold, the playing manager, passed two to Duden for touchdowns. O'Leary scored twice, and Duden and Lou Hudner rushed one more each. Our power was undeniable, and the game ended 40-0.

The overwhelming victory which followed against Tufts brought to a peak the coordination of the Blue team. There were no real Andover errors; the squad worked smoothly regardless of whom the coaches put in. Excepting Dick Duden, who scored five times, it is impossible to appoint one especially fine player, for the team worked as a man. Jim Hudner scored twice, and Dunc Mauran and Boog Kemp each once. Clayton stepped back to convert successfully as usual, and the score ended at 60-0.

On November 14, the traditional rival engaged us on Brothers Field. It was a gray, cold, and windy day. Passing attacks were rendered useless by the numbing cold. Andover, through comparison of records, was favored, having four wins and one loss to Exeter's two wins, three losses, and one tie. Exeter was captained by a fine athlete and competitor, Jim Gill, at left end.

The starting line-up for the Blue was Phil Kemp at left end, Hal Clayton at left tackle, Mort Bishop playing left guard, Larry Toms back at center, Mase Phelps at right guard, Bob Harvey at right tackle, and Tom Haymond on the right end. The backfield had Ben Hammer as quarterback, Lou Hudner at right half, Captain Dick Duden playing left halfback, and Dick O'Leary, fullback.

The game began at 1:50 with Dick O'Leary taking the opening kick-off to our own thirty-five yard line. Exeter took possession of the ball on the fifty after some short gains and a fumble. We regained the ball soon on a fumble. Exeter yielded little ground so Hammer kicked on the third down to Peck of Exeter. After a long run-back, our line began to hold the Red attack. After a punt to Hudner, the Andover

GET THAT GUY!

"...the best I've ever coached" Sorota offensive began to get into action. Sparked by long gains by Duden around end, the team steamrolled to the Exeter seven-yard line, as the first quarter ended. O'Leary ran over the goal-line standing up to make the first score. Clayton moved back for the conversion, but the attempt was blocked.

Duden kicked off, and Exeter made a few gains. Lou Hudner was injured and was forced to leave the game. Andover took over on their own forty-five, and with Duden and O'Leary alternating, carried the ball to the Exeter seven, when Dick Duden ploughed through for our second touchdown. The conversion was blocked. An Andover attempt at a touchdown pass was intercepted, and the half was over.

The beginning of the second half was sloppy, but after a long march, Jim Hudner broke away only to trip on the Exeter two. The final quarter brought an attack by the Redmen which ended in an interception by Duden. Futile passing attempts were made by Exeter and the game ended successfully for us, twelve to nothing. It was a hard-fought contest all the way, and was a difficult test of the capability of the team. The game closed a successful season, that had the satisfying characteristic of being increasingly good. The team would have liked to have used its strong passing attack in the Exeter contest, but even when restricted to the ground, its offensive power was undeniable.

To Coaches Sorota, Meany, and Flanagan go the team's sincere thanks for ably leading them through a successful season.

Next year's season will see the team hampered by war conditions in the fields of men, material, and the schedule. Nevertheless, plans are already being made for the season. At the Banquet held after the Exeter game, next year's Captain and Manager, Berk Bidgood and Ted Heckel respectively were elected. Unfortunately Biddy leaves for the Marines this June. Jim Hudner, a steady ground-gainer, was elected captain.

Junior Varsity Football

COACH SHEPARD'S constantly improving Junior Varsity team concluded a successful season by beating the Exeter Junior Varsity, 6-2. As usual the squad was divided into two groups early in the season and then combined for the final game.

The team was beaten in its first two games. In the first, a contest with Moses Brown, the score was 7-0, while in the second, with New Hampton, a 25-7 score was reached. In spite of these early set backs the Jayvees recovered, and they disposed of both Methuen and Punchard High Schools. The Exeter game, which at Andover represents the climax of the season, was an over-powering indication of the worth of Coach Shepard's directive genius. The other coaches, Mr. Kishon and Mr. Potter of the line, Mr. Leete of the ends, and Mr. Follansbee of the backs, worked very hard. Gene Bierer of the Blue scored the only points of the day for Andover.

The Andover team was particularly strong in the line, mostly because of the efforts of Tex Neale and Jim Tait. Ed Meade, a Lower prep, starred among the ends. At least ten of the returning line-men will easily be capable of filling the shoes of this year's Varsity. Not only was the line strong, but the backfield presented a talented front to our rivals. Norm Norse, for instance, is said to be the Do-It-Again-Dude of tomorrow. Charlie Smith, who is, believe it or not, a Junior, was the playing quarterback during the entire season. Jim Zonino threatens to be another half-back of the Hudner variety, and it goes without saying that Rick Hudner ought to be faintly reminiscent of his talented brothers in future years. It appears that the Junior Varsity system has finally matured into the efficient feeder camp for the Varsity for which it was designed. And not only has it lived up to its founders' hopes, but it has also given the sport of football back to many of the younger boys.

WITH only six members of last year's undefeated team returning, Andover's soccer prospects for 1942 were certainly not the best in years. After tying Governor Dummer and being blanked by Deerfield, Exeter, and Harvard, with a win from Tufts as slight consolation, the team began to find itself, and there followed two victories over Brooks, and in the best played game of the season, a scoreless tie with Exeter.

With the Andover-Exeter football game coming the same day, the two teams had in their second encounter a sizeable gallery. Besides fine soccer, this game saw the season's best team play, which is surprising considering the bitterly cold wind which numbed player and spectator alike. Andover was remarkable on the defense, holding a superior offensive team scoreless through two overtime periods.

Jim Ryley deserves great credit for putting his team back on its feet after a depressing start, and Captain Tuck Asbury, who, though injured in the first game, played every game but one and was out-

Cliff Wright and Dan Carroll deserve praise for consistent good play, and other players who should be mentioned are Harry Owen, Jerry Tompkins, Steve Bates, Meff Runyon, John Turner, and Fred Zonino.

For next year, Dan Carroll and Gene Bernardin replace Tuck Asbury and Ted Peck as Captain and Manager respectively. Twelve of this year's squad will return next year, and since these include four of this year's first string team, Jim Ryley should have the nucleus of a strong squad hands of a superior Dean Academy team, Andover bounced back to defeat a good Coast Guard team by a 58-41 score. After losing to the Naval Advance Depot from Rhode Island, made up of several ex-college stars, in a closely matched 31-26 game, Andover won the remaining eight contests of the season. The games with the Coast Guard and Naval teams were the beginning of a new plan to encourage games with nearby service teams.

UNDER the leadership of a great captain and a great player, Dick Duden, the Andover quintet won nine of its eleven games, amassing a total of 571 points against 363 for all of its opponents.

In the Northeastern game and the Tufts game which followed, the hoopsters rolled up terrific scores of 71 points in each game against 36 points for Northeastern and 41 for Tufts.

These games were the highlights of the entire season as Dick Duden twice broke the Andover personal scoring record by sinking 27 points in each game. Between Northeastern and Tufts, Lowell was taken by a 52-27 score.

CAPTAIN DUDEN IN ACTION
He broke the individual scoring record

The Harvard J.V.'s fell to a superior Andover team in a hard fought contest which ended with a 52-48 victory, due largely to Bob Harvey's excellent playing when he rolled up 14 points

Following the Harvard game, Andover trounced Exeter here by a 67-37 score Dean suffered defeat as Andover avenged her defeat in the season's first game, by a 53-32 score. After cleaning up Governor Dummer, 48-19, the Blue marched to the North and again beat Exeter in an exciting and close game. The final score was 46-39 and Bob Harvey brilliantly accounted for 23 of the Andover points. Their excellent play throughout the season calls for praise for Dave Toll, Clint Vose, Fack Asbury, Hal Clayton, Bob Harvey, Bill Chipman, and Roy Ferguson.

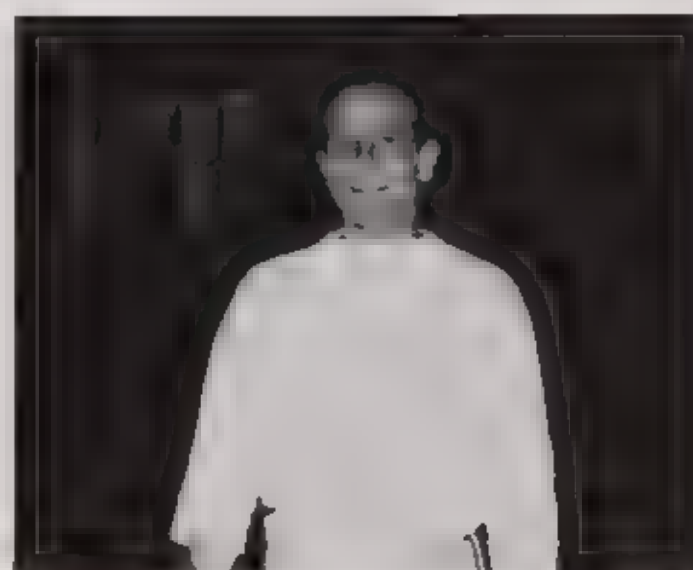

Much credit should go to Coach DiClementi, as well as to Stu Northrop, who ably served as manager. Wheelock Whitney was elected captain and Bill Neale the new manager of next year's basketball team.

CAPTAIN CLIFF STEVENS
The Redmen don't like him!

SEEING action first at the private school Round Robin Conference during Christmas vacation, Captain Stevens led his team into quite a successful season. Cliff, however, was prevented by illness from lending his valuable support to his team mates, and they lacked some of the spark that they acquired before the end of the season. Adding only Governor Dummer to its eventual list of victories, Andover fell before Choate, the league winner, and Exeter. The experience gained at the conference was very valuable, however, and it proved the worth of such men as Charlie Smith who made three of our six goals.

The team was aided by excellent ice throughout most of the Winter Term, yet the start of the schedule was discouraging. We had to sustain two defeats before we saw a victory. Harvard beat us with an excellent team, and we met a disheartening defeat at the hands of Yale in the closing seconds of the game. Breaking into the winning column in the next two contests, the team defeated Belmont Hill, following it up by nosing out Brooks 2-1 in ten minutes of overtime play. Defeated by Hebron Academy and winning over Brooks for a second time, we entered the closely contended Exeter series. We lost the first game 3-1, tied the second 3-3, and fought a close 3-2 victory in the third. Andover then won the series with a 5-1 victory in the playoff at Exeter. Rennie Farrington and Larry Dalley set up a 2-1 lead in the first period. The Stevens line accounted for two under Moher's name, and Frank Strout scored the last one with a second to go.

Coulson and Ricker did an admirable job at defense all season receiving somewhat less notice than the spectacular for-

ANDOVER'S prospects for a strong swimming team looked doubtful in the team's first fall practices, for although there were among the returning members of last year's team such proven men as Captain Jack Fallon, Joe Houghteling, Bill Farnsworth, and Norm Sper, the team was faced with a surprising lack of fast men to back up their strongest swimmers. But, encouraged by Bill Farnsworth's record-breaking times in practice, and the ever-improving performances of Captain Fallon, Dick Hartung, and Norm Sper, the team went into the Exeter contest with high hopes and expectations for a victory.

In the fifty-yard freestyle, M. Lazo was nosed out of second place by Exeter's captain. Jerry Tompkins and Joe Houghteling came in one-two in the breaststroke, to even the score. In the two-hundred-yard dash, Dick Hartung won with a fast 2:10, with Woody Chamberlain taking third. Captain Fallon was beaten out of first place in the backstroke by Exeter's star, to tie up the score once more. Andover lost ground in the hundred-yard freestyle

CAPTAIN JACK FALLON

His team came through when it counted most when Peck took third for the Blue. Norm Sper easily carried off the honors in the diving, although he did not equal his school record, set a few weeks before at Harvard, of 106 5. Thus, as the two teams went into the relays, Andover needed to take both to win. The medley team of Fallon, Tompkins, and Peck nosed out the Red and Gray to keep Andover in the meet. Dick Hartung sparked the freestyle relay team of Sper, Knight, Hartung, and Gifford to a beautiful victory, as Skip Gifford out-touched the Exeter man to give Andover its fourth straight win over Exeter, 36-30.

Full credit for the success of the team should be given to coaches Rocky Dake and Jack Johnson, as well as to Captain Jackie Fallon and Manager Bob Noble, whose consistent efforts throughout the season kept the morale of the team at a high pitch.

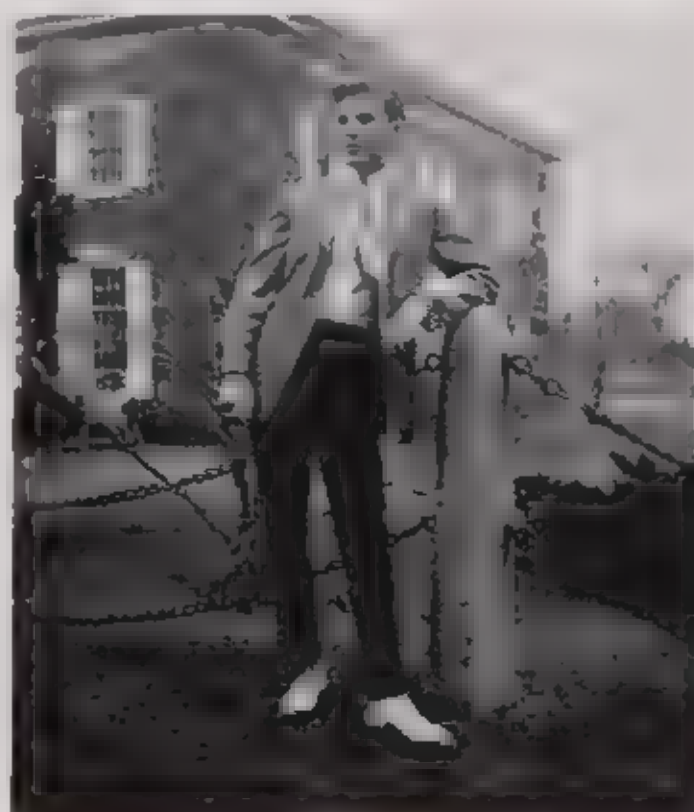

Norman Sper was elected Captain of the 1944 team, and Alfred Harris, Manager.

COACH CARISON AND CAPTAIN HAYMOND
Cy will be missed

THIS year the P.A. wrestling team had Captain Tom Haymond, Dick Moody, and C. E. Meagan as the only returning lettermen. The team had a better than average year since it was defeated only twice, and these defeats were due to lack of experience and not to lack of aggressiveness.

Captain Haymond, Moody, and Meagan deserve special praise for their wrestling throughout the season. Tom Haymond remained undefeated for the whole season, and he set a high standard for his teammates to follow. Captain-elect Moody also proved himself outstanding when he defeated the state champion in the Weymouth meet. Meagan was the only other member of the team to remain undefeated. His experience plus an overabundance of speed and agility proved too much for his opponents. Some other members of the team including Phil Drake, Will Crehore, Bill Eastham, Julian Abbott, and Scho Burns deserve credit for their performances.

The Exeter meet was probably the most exciting meet of the year. Both teams put up a determined fight, but the experience of the Exeter wrestlers gave them the final victory. Moody provided the afternoon's biggest thrill when he pinned his opponent in the opening seconds of the first round. Haymond and Meagan also came through with decisions in their favor, but these points were not enough to win the meet. Snow Burns, although he lost his match, wrestled brilliantly, and it took his opponent two overtimes to gain the decision.

A large share of the credit for this year's team should be given to the coach, Cy Carlson. He has given the team fighting spirit and all the wrestling technique

CAPTAIN CURT LEWIS
He took Hassy's place

THE fencing team, coached by Mr. Barss, and captained by Curt Lewis for the second successive year, started the season off well by defeating Exeter in a foils match 5-4. Outstanding performers for the Royal Blue were Captain Lewis, and Dick Stevens.

From then on, however, Andover did not fare so well. First we lost to M.I.T. by a score of 15-12. This was a good match though and close all the way. Again Curt Lewis did excellent work and he was ably supported by Doug Stuart, John Randolph, and Leon Harris. Following this match we lost decisively to a superior Harvard team by a count of 17-10. And the season ended with a return match with Exeter in which the Red and Grey reversed the previous decision and triumphed in a foils tournament 5-4.

Besides those already mentioned, boys who did consistently good work during the season were Larry Barss, Harold Simons, Peter Poor, and Bob Crossley. For next year Larry Barss was elected captain of the team and William Boyd was chosen manager.

AIDED by a timely January blizzard, the Andover skiers saw a much more active season this year than they did last. Although wartime transportation problems prevented competition with teams from other schools, there was much interest shown, and considerable activity on Prospect Hill. In spite of the fact that these conditions prevented the formation of an outing club, the trails cleared by last year's crew were in good condition, and appreciated greatly. Snowy weekends brought out many of last year's men, and some enthusiastic newcomers. Among the more able skiers of last year were John McChesney and Junie Marshall. Also taking advantage of the excellent snow conditions were Frank Anderson and Arthur Hall, not to speak of such loyal followers of the sport as Gratton Kennedy and Nat Potter. Although we cannot belittle the enjoyment found on Prospect Hill, the skiers of Andover are looking forward to the day when, under the proficient tutelage of Mr. Sanborn, skiing will come into its own.

Advisory Board

Chairman
Secretary

MR. RAY SHEPARD
PHIL DRAKE

THE promotion of understanding and good feeling between the student body and the coaches of the various sports, and student participation in the athletic policy of Andover are the two chief functions of the Advisory Board. The Board, consisting of the captains and managers of baseball, track, and football plus an undergraduate secretary elected by them, awards all letters and numerals, usually upon the recommendation of the coach.

The appointment of cheerleaders, P.A. police, and the Open Door are three of the more tangible duties which the Board performs throughout the year. Cheerleaders are chosen on a basis of popularity and spirit. The P.A. Police are chosen for their ability to control the student body, for the leadership which they have demonstrated, and for the respect they command from the student body. Personality and interest in the school are the factors which the Board considers in electing members to the Open Door. The chief duty of the Open Door is the welcoming of visitors to the "Hill" especially visiting teams.

The last essential duty of the Board is the election of assistant managers in the Spring. This Spring election, inaugurated last year, enables the managers to carry out their respective duties as soon as school starts, instead of delaying a few weeks until the elections are held and the sports chosen by the successful candidates.

All due credit should be extended to Phil Drake for managing the affairs of the Board with extreme capability and thoroughness.

CO-CAPTAIN LOU HUDNER
He could be counted on

UNLIKE previous years the outlook for the track team this year could not be considered very good. With only a small group of last year's lettermen returning, Coaches Shepard, Sarota, and Flanagan have had to work hard to build up a team which, though as a whole, was weak, contained several boys who have made outstanding individual records during the Winter. Sam Herron broke the shot-put record, and it looks as though he might break it again this Spring. Joe Sobin tied the forty-yard dash record, and he also should be outstanding this Spring. A big blow to this Spring's chances was the loss of Bob Black, who unofficially broke the six-hundred-yard record.

In the different fields, the weights are by far the strongest. Sam Herron, Doug Bomeisler, and Steve McKee took first, second, and third all Winter in the shot, and they should repeat their performances this Spring. Co-Captain Bill Coleman and Jim Burnham are both unbeatable hammer throwers.

The dashes are also strong this season, and Co-Captain Lou Hudner, Joe Sobin, and Bob Beach can be counted on for valuable points. Bill Jackson, when he is not vying for hurdle honors, is also very good material for the 100 and 220-yard dashes.

The other field events featuring the broad-jump, high-jump, pole vault, and javelin lack the power of previous years. However, Dwight Rockwell and Diz Bensley show promise in the pole vault, Easton Cross can be counted on for points in the broad jump, Paul Matthews and Ross Baker should place in the high jump, and Bob Coulson is our best bet in the javelin.

The long distance runs are our greatest hindrance this year. Several boys including John Dixon, Charlie Chittick, and Stan Porter are good for places in their events. However, the valuable second and third place points are sadly lacking

CO-CAPTAIN BILL COLEMAN
Muscle man from New Hampshire

In the Tufts and Harvard meets the team made a good showing, but was slightly beaten by the more experienced competitors. In the Prep School meet we took a second place to Exeter by a narrow margin. Jim Burnham broke the meet hammer record with a toss of 184 feet 1 inch, and Steve McKee shattered the meet discus mark by throwing the disc 135 ft. 2½ in. Co-Captain Lou Hudner won the 220-yard run, and Diz Bensley tied for first in the pole vault with Harwood of Exeter

In spite of our 69-57 defeat at the hands of Exeter in the last and most important meet of the year, the meet was a close one. Starring for Andover were Co-Captain Lou Hudner, who won the 100 and 220-yard dashes and the 440-yard run, and Steve McKee, who tossed the discus 141 feet, bettering by six feet the Prep School meet record he had set the week before, and setting a new Andover-Exeter meet record. Other firsts for Andover were won by Cross in the broad jump,

Varsity Baseball

WITH more than sixty men reporting, Coach Follansbee began intensive practice in the Cage during the last few weeks of the Winter Term. Andover's chances for a successful season looked at that time better than just good, for in addition to three-year veterans Captain Ben Hammer, Tuck Asbury, Cy Brockway, and Dick Duden, there were returning from last year's team Phil Kemp, Artie Moher, Fred Zonino, and Ray Vorce. Rennie Farrington and Bardie Smith, up from the J. V., along with newcomers Clint Vose, Bob Harvey, Hal Clayton, and Gene Bierer, looked good in these first practices. From the start the team was hampered by unfavorable weather and was unable to get in more than a few days of outdoor practice before taking on the Harvard Varsity. Playing amid intermittent snow flurries, pitcher Phil Kemp did a good job in holding Harvard to four runs, but he lacked the batting support of his teammates who failed to capitalize on two late rallies, finally losing, 4-1

CAPTAIN BEN HAMMER
He hammered 'em home

Redeeming itself by a strong display of power, both on the field and at the plate, the team easily defeated a weak St. Mary's team, 9-1. It suffered a relapse in the next game, playing sloppy ball, but finally beat Marblehead, 12-9, in a game whose only highlight was Tuck Asbury's home run to the tennis courts.

The team continued its winning streak, beating the Yale J. V. team 5-2, in a hard-fought game which showed Fred Zonino leading the batters and backing up Gene Bierer's fine pitching. This game also featured the addition of Hal Clayton to the batting order as he took over Captain Hammer's position of catcher while Ben moved into the outfield.

Back on its home grounds once more, Andover proceeded to demonstrate its power by taking over Thayer, Deerfield, and Watertown High by the scores of 11-1, 18-4, and 10-3 respectively. The high-scoring win over Deerfield was sufficient revenge for the upset received last year from that team.

The team met its first real competition since the Yale game when it played and defeated an underrated Lynn English

MANAGER DAVE TOLL

He knows his baseball team, 3-1, largely through the efforts of pitcher Phil Kemp, who held the opposition to two hits and struck out thirteen men. The winning run was scored in the early innings with the aid of Dick Duden's long triple to center field.

Thus far, the team has shown Andover some of the finest baseball ever seen on this Hill, thanks largely to the efforts of Coach Follansbee, Captain Hammer, and Manager Dave Toll. This trio has kept the spirit of the team at a high pitch, and with the support of the student body they should see their team defeat Exeter.

J. V. Baseball

THIS year the Junior Varsity baseball team has enjoyed a fairly successful season under the able coaching of Mr. Dunbar. The nine game schedule plus practice games with the Varsity and the newly organized Second J. V. team have made it a good season indeed considering the present problems in transportation.

COACH DOUG DUNBAR
He farms 'em for Flop

The squad was cut down to 15 members so that each man would see as much action as possible.

The pitching staff stood out with Charlie Smith, Bob Traylor, and Nelse Taintor pitching in turn throughout the season. The infield was exceptionally good this year with Dick Welch showing definite Varsity prospects on third base. Bob Slocum handled short-stop in a smooth working combination with Ned Budd at second. Cliff Wright, the only veteran infielder, has shown up well all season at first base. Jim Zonino played well behind the plate. The three starting outfielders are all veterans of last year's team. Fred Jordan stood out at center field, Herb Upton at left, and Grenny Harshman at right. Boyce played around as utility fielder. The team as a whole molded together into an efficient machine and easily rolled over most of its High School opponents. Much credit is due to Coach Dunbar for his fine coaching.

THE Lacrosse team got off to an early start this year with Sunday afternoon practice sessions in the Cage during the latter part of the Winter Term. About fifty men turned out for this pre-season work. Coaches James and Littleton wasted no time in moulding the team into shape. The squad as a whole was way ahead of schedule in getting started.

Leading the returning lettermen this year, Captain Rand Johnson, who played in the midfield last year, switched over to the attack and was responsible for a lot of the team's scoring. Ted Heckel, Skip Eccles, Mace Phelps, and Jim Townsend were also veterans of previous seasons. Heckel, who played on the team in 1941 but was unable to play last year due to injuries, was one of the squad's most dependable scorers.

P. A. lost its first encounter of the season on April 11 to the Tufts Varsity. Newcomers Dick O'Leary, Dick Hudner, and Doug Bomeisler all showed promise of future success in their first game against outside opposition. On the following week, the team traveled to South Byfield to play Governor Dummer. P. A. again lost, this time by a 7-3 margin. Dick O'Leary and Johnson accounted for the Andover goals. Jack Lemmon made several nice saves in his position as goalie. The stickmen lost their next encounter to a strong Harvard Varsity squad. Although the score was unfavorable practically all the way, Dunc Mauran, Joe Reisler, Bill Kelty, Harry Reid, Dick Meryman, and Ted Pearson all played topflight games.

Andover scored its first win of the season on Saturday, May 1 against M.I.T. The score was 5-3. Although Captain Johnson, Mace Phelps, Dick O'Leary, and Perry Schwarzer were all kept out of action, the team functioned as a unit surprisingly well. The star of the day was Ted Heckel, who scored all of P. A.'s five tallies. This victory did a great deal by way of boosting the squad's morale.

Lacrosse, as a sport, received more support from the school in general this year than it has in quite some time. Not only was the Varsity well backed, but the J. V. Team was greatly enlarged.

AFTER the customary two weeks of rain which always seem to follow Spring vacation, the courts began to dry, and Coaches Kelley, Sides, and McCarthy started to survey their record turnout of 108 tennis prospects. Along with a strong trio of returning lettermen, Captain Frank Stout, Bill Schock, and Phil Drake, there were several members of last year's second team, and it was around these boys that Coach Kelley planned to build the Varsity.

Right up until the first match, the weather was very poor, and consequently it was difficult for Mr. Kelley to decide how the team was to line up. However, after only three days of good tennis it was clear that Bill Schock would hold down the number one position and would be followed in the two and three spots by Captain Strout and Phil Drake respectively. The fourth position was closely contested, but Charlie Arnold, of last year's second team, was finally chosen. Jim Rains, in his first year out for tennis, and Bob Jordan brought up the fifth and sixth places to fill out what seemed to be a well-rounded and versatile team.

The first match of the season was against

CAPTAIN FRANK STROUT
Four years of topnotch tennis

MANAGER GEORGE LETHBRIDGE

He plays the game too

the Harvard Varsity, and although the Blue played well, we were outclassed and defeated by a 7-2 score. The following Saturday, Andover met the Harvard Graduates, who have not been beaten in eight years, and lost by a close margin 5-4. This was a very exciting match and was not decided until the last doubles match was over. The next week the team traveled to Cambridge and received still another setback at the hands of the Harvard Varsity. In their next match, however, the Blue broke into the victory column with a smashing 9-0 win over Milton Academy, at Milton. Every Andover man played excellent tennis, and the Milton resistance was useless.

Thus, as this article goes to press the team record stands at one victory against three defeats. But considering the fact that the defeats were administered by what will undoubtedly prove the toughest opponents of the season, and also, that the team as a whole has great potential ability, the prospects for the rest of the year look quite bright. With two matches with Exeter coming up, both Mr. Kelley and the team feel that the Royal Blue has an excellent chance of avenging last year's defeat

FOREWORD

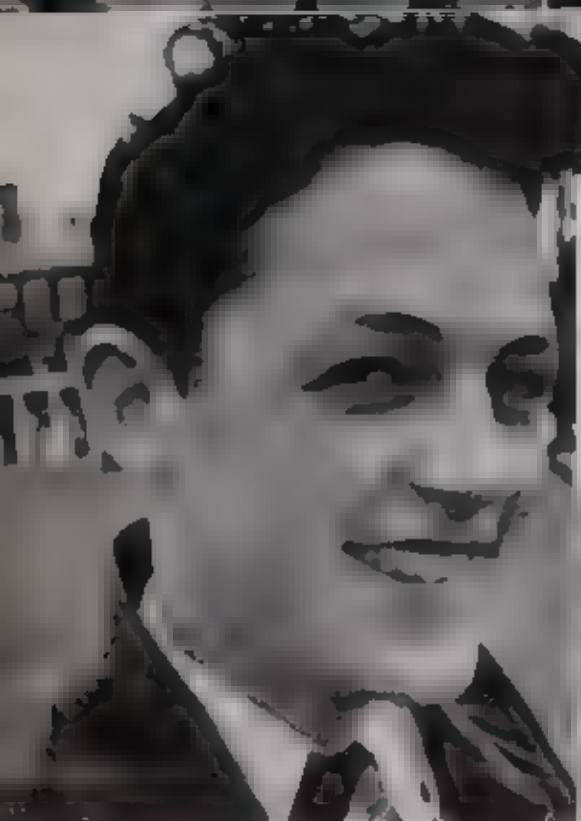

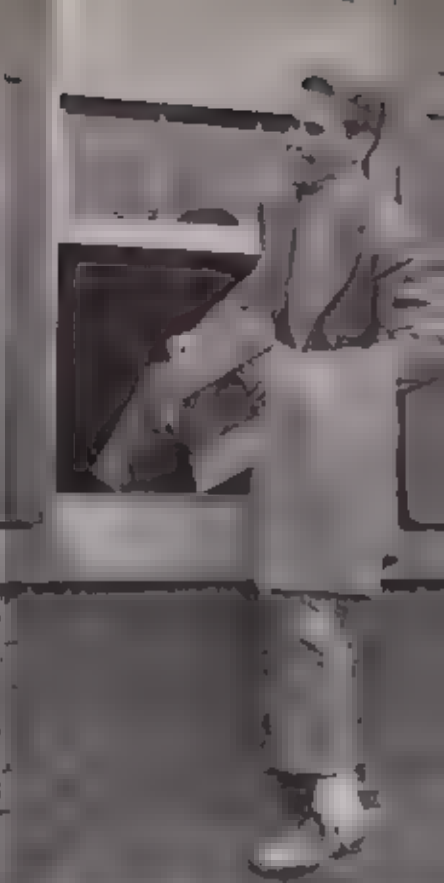

IT is a common human characteristic to remember faces long after we have forgotten the names of their owners. Because this feature of the POT POURRI is meant to be a reminder of your days on the Hill, we have this year made it up of a great many candid photographs of the members of the Class of 1943, in as many varied poses as they could assume. To these pictures we have added captions which are meant to be appropriate, and occasionally humorous. As it is the purpose of this feature to evoke only pleasant memories, we have tried to include in it no pictures or captions which would in any way hurt anybody's feelings or reputation (which policy has cost us some of our best shots). If, in spite of our vigilance, something has slipped through, it was unintentional.

This feature has been read by only a few boys prior to publication, and so far, all the guinea pigs have reacted favorably. Here, then, is an unbiased (if slightly expurgated) record of your class. Read on at your own risk, and let the laughs fall where they may.

DEDICATION

To Mr. "Bill" Bender, the humorous Hoosier, who for the last seven years has helped make American History the most interesting, as well as the hardest course for Andover seniors, whose unlimited sense of humor, great affability, and deep understanding have earned him the respect and admiration of his students, and who is now serving in the U.S. Navy, we affectionately dedicate this special feature.

Interfraternity Council

THE exact date of organization of the Interfraternity Council is a question, but it is known to have been formed before 1900.

Probably the present members of the Council have the same motives as did its founders. Today the Council is striving to do several things. The two main things are to set up a group of laws governing admittance of new men into fraternities, and supervising the actions of these fraternities; and to further amity between the administration and the fraternities.

The first goal, the establishment of regulations, has not yet been attained. The reason for not having completed all that has been desired in this respect is that there is little time, with studies and activities, to draw up a complete set of laws. However, the Council has made some laws of which the faculty advisors have approved, but still these regulations are too few to suffice.

The second goal, attempting to ally the administration with the fraternities, is difficult. The first step toward this desired alliance was the big part which fraternity men played in the Andover scrap drive. There have not been other such opportunities, but the Council sincerely hopes there will be in future years.

This year's Council has not achieved the desired goal, but it has made gains forming a solid base for future Councils.

This article was written and submitted before the action taken by the Trustees in the Spring Term concerning the societies. Ed

ONCE again a senior class has played out its part in the history of Andover.

The Andover Shop expresses appreciation for the part it has been privileged to play in the success of the Class of 1943 through providing correct dress in keeping with their high standards.

We sincerely hope that we may have the opportunity for continued service through LANGROCK shops at Yale, Brown, Penn., Williams, Princeton, or New York City.

Battle Flags of Radio...

These are flags of Victory—an Army Navy "E" with two stars awarded to an RCA Instrument plant—an Army Navy "E" won by an RCA Tube plant—an Army Navy "E" and the Maritime Commission "M" pennant awarded to the Radiomarine Corporation of America.

They have been won on a vital battlefield of this war—the battlefield of production. The men and women of the Radio Corporation of America and its services have earned these four flags by their outstanding achievement in the production of radio-electronic equipment vital to victory.

When victory is won, the skill and war experience of RCA will be turned to the new goals of peace... to the task of making the life of our nation richer, safer, more enjoyable, and more productive... through new and finer products of radio and electronic research.

Six thousand five hundred thirteen men from the mills represented by J. P. Stevens & Co., Inc., and our own personnel, are still keeping alive the spirit of Stevens Service in the armed forces. To these and to thousands of other men of the textile industry who have taken up arms, we recognize our responsibility. We shall do our utmost to see to it that they receive the materials they need to help them in winning final victory.

UNDER-GRADS LIKE US

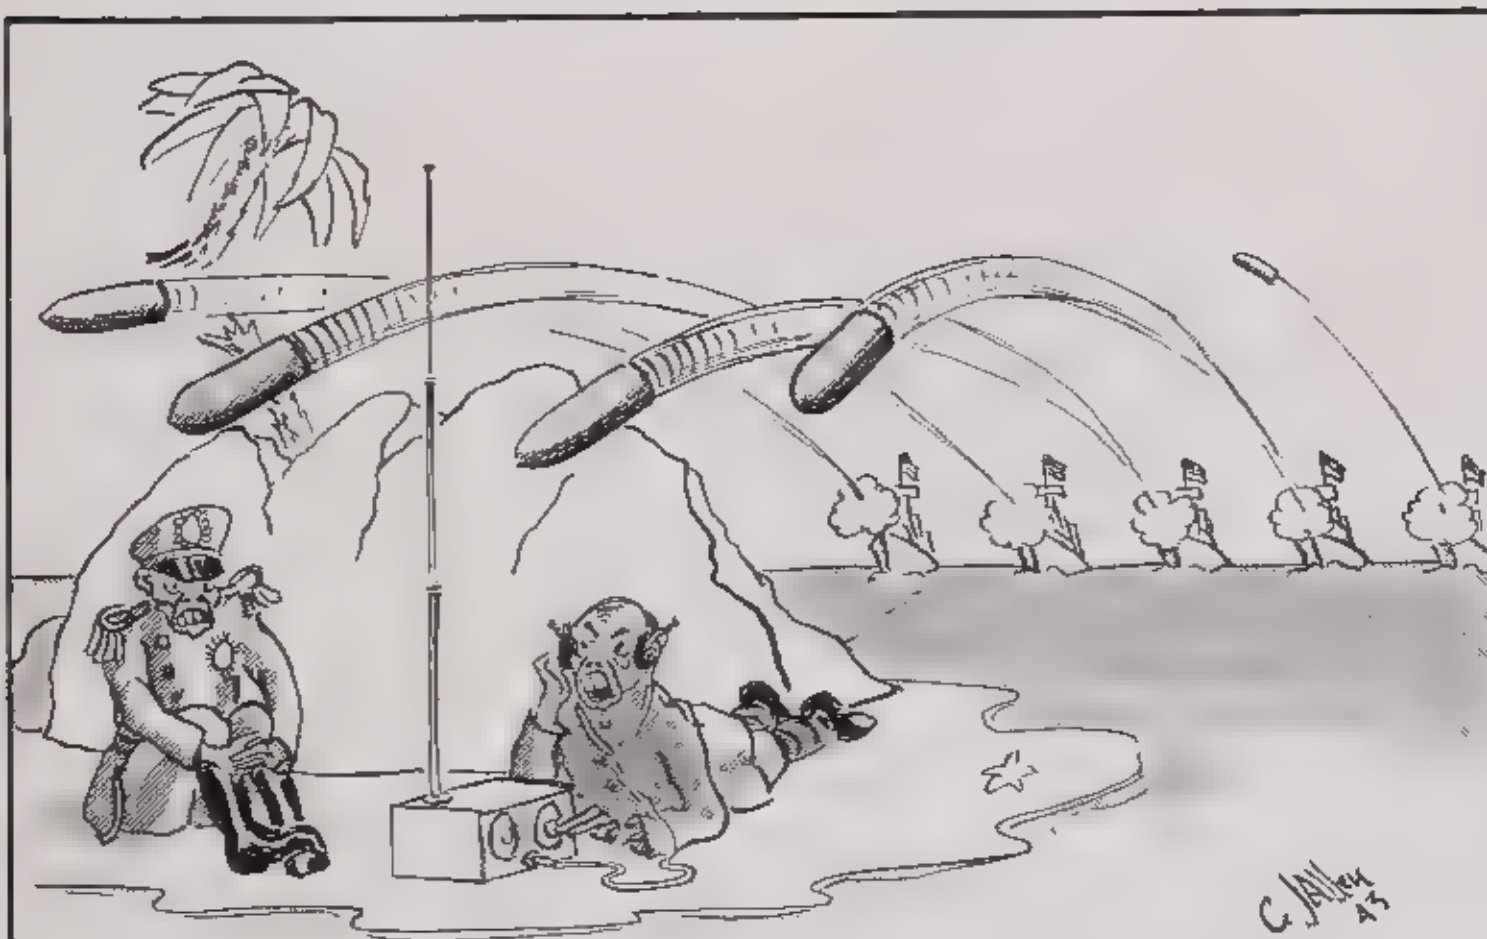

AND WE LIKE UNDER-GRADS

Pardon us for pointing but we seem to be it when it comes to outfitting the smart young men of New England. We've had many years of experience in satisfying their demands (and believe us, they know what they want). Parents approve, too, for Kennedy prices are always geared to the times.
